

Singing Sydney

an evening of reflection,
humour & celebration
with Mike Sparks

Sydney Carter (1915 - 2004), folk poet and holy sceptic, wrote songs that both please and shock in equal measure. From internationally loved anthems such as 'When I Needed A Neighbour' to the unexpected like 'Down Below' in praise of the London sewerage system.

Mike Sparks is a folk singer and songwriter in the English tradition. A CD of Sydney Carter songs is also available.

Further information at www.mikesparks.co.uk